Did they come in a carriage, Liza? Who, sir? The persons who took Mrs. Brandon away. Nobody took her, sir. She did n t go in a carriage. She walked. Then Helen must have gone to some place in the immediate neighborhood. Edward wondered where; but he had no intention of looking her up, with so many chances against finding her. The day was a failure from beginning to end, and there was nothing to do but to take the matter philosophically. A book and a cigar, and perhaps a stroll by the water-side, would help kill time until she came home. A glimmering consciousness of how dependent he was on Helen came over him. Tell Susan to cook a chop for me, Liza, or send up a slice of cold ham, or something--I don t care what. If there...
